It's a Jungle out there

The life of a typical Euclid student can be very hectic and confusing at times. The school year began with the students trying to get their schedule worked out so that they were taking the classes that they had signed up to take. After that they had to figure how to get from class to class by the appropriate route so that lockers could be visited and friends could be met in the allotted time between classes. Students made new friends in their classes as the year progressed. There were many athletic activities and clubs that the students could attend throughout the year. Doing homework and attending afterschool activities such as jobs or service organizations took up much time. A student had a lot of activities to spend their time on throughout the year.

At the pep assembly before the Barberton game the cheerleaders and majorettes and Marching band and the football team all helped to get the student body excited.

STUDY HALLS

Stacy Meden, Rosalyn Miranda, Meredith Bell and Amy Guy know that the library is an ideal place to spend their study halls in since they can be with their friends and they can get lots of work done.

Angela Suchy, Leann Uchbar, Cecilia Miller, Julie Di Bartolomeo and Jackie Sas know that being friends will help them out of many bad situations. Students in Mrs. Lomac's class should learn information that will help them out in later years. During the first days of school, Michelle Dineen, Lisa Pike and Katie Masterson were very anxious to get into their classroom. Janeen Miklowski enjoyed her life outside on the tennis court after school.

kicks off perfect Homecoming w

The mighty Euclid Panther football team got Homecoming weekend off to an excellent start by beating the Brush Arcs 31-7 on Friday, October 15. It was a beautiful night with no wind and mild temperatures. The team and fans got to see the game with the new lighting system that had just been installed to replace the light poles that had been bent during the July 28 storm. The Panthers looked strong as they started the game by scoring on their first two possessions but after that they just seemed to lose enthusiasm as they only led 14-0 at the half. Euclid gained 255 yards and 14 first downs in the first half but also managed to throw an interception and lose a fumble and had its drives stopped. In the third quarter Euclid scored on a four-play, 86 yard drive capped by a five yard run by Pepe Pearson. On the next play Gary Dwyer intercepted a pass and returned it 46 yards to the three yard line where B. J. Harrison ran it over on the next play. Rob Heramb kicked a 24-yard field goal in the fourth quarter. Pepe Pearson carried 25 times for 162 yards and two touchdowns. Mike Yurich carried six times for 97 yards and Steve Zahursky caught four passes for 125 yards.

The Homecoming candidates came through balloon arches with their parents. Student Council members, Helena Oroz and Maggie Dane, introduced the Homecoming candidates during an assembly in the auditorium.

Council puts on a classical dance to

The 1993 Homecoming Dance was held in the E-Room on Saturday, October 16 and turned out to be a fun time for everyone. The theme was Classical Enchantment and decorations included a romantic fountain with roses and rose petals afloat. The ivy wound columns, starlit chariot scene and shimmering pool also added classical attractions. The most fun of all, however, probably went along with the music and the attendance. Two hundred fifty six couples rocked to the music all night long and enjoyed the refreshments. During the night, the Homecoming court was introduced with Tiffany Hicks as Queen and Isaac Bonner as King. The rest of the court included the queen and king attendants who were Annette Hollis, Julie Di Bartolomeo, Kim Schultz, Tony Sustarsic, Bill Parsons and Joe Brkic. The Junior attendant was Jennifer Hall and the sophomore attendants were Heather Nickell and Fritz Streiff. Overall, the dance was a big success and Euclid students are the ones who made it happen.

Heigh Ho, Heigh Ho, It's off to work we go

Having a job was an important part of life for most students at Euclid High School. A poll was conducted of Euclid seniors and 81% of them responded that they had a part time job at which they worked anywhere from 10 to 25 hours per week. Most of the students worked at fast food chains or as sales people in stores around the city. The students felt that the experience that they got from having a job during school was useful when they were ready to enter the working world.

LOCKERS

A locker was a student's storage place away from home. It was a place to keep clothes, books, pencils, paper and all the other items that most students found necessary to help tame the jungle of problems that they faced each day at school. Most students just used their lockers for storage, but others used their lockers as a means of self expression as shown by the way that they decorated them.

Rafael Brown says that his locker "represents the whole world".

Leann Uchbar uses her locker to "show my friends and family and all of my books."

Kim Schoval is interested in "getting good grades so I can go to college. I want to go to a performing arts college in New York."

Jenna Brzeczowski likes her locker to show that she is "expecting it to be a really good year since it's my junior year."

This year's Winterfest, "Under the Boardwalk", was a special treat for everyone who attended. The theme "Under the Boardwalk" consisted of the E-room decorated as a Euclid Beach scene. The colors were red, blue, yellow and green, which brightened up Euclid's E-room and ballroom. Along with the colors, other decorations included a balloon stand, popcorn stand, ticket booth and nicely decorated columns. In the ballroom, a chandelier hung from the ceiling with different colors of streamers extending to all four corners. These creative decorations set off the action on the dance floor. Half way through the action, the court was announced for that night's dance. Brian Tomazic was King along with Dan Burke as first attendant and Marty O'Neill as second attendant. Andrea Haselbusch was crowned queen along with Lillian Mazzei as first attendant and Sarah Nehrig as second attendant. And last, the jester, or class clown, turned out to be Matt Lemieux. After this event, the dance floor got even hotter and the refreshments disappeared quickly. People drank all of the lemonade and ate all of the vegetables and popcorn available. After the food and drink was gone, the dance was just about over. As the D. J. thanked the students and wished them a careful ride home, students left and on their way out picked up their 1994 Winterfest, "Under the Boardwalk" glass, as a souvenir to remember forever. Overall, the dance was a big success for Student Council with over 140 couples attending. Adviser, Ms. Judy Carmody did an excellent job of keeping everything together.

SPORTS

Sports gives students an opportunity to participate in activities at Euclid High School. Euclid has as complete a range of sports as almost any high school in Ohio. As well as Varsity and Junior Varsity sports there is also an extensive freshman sports program for anyone who is interested. If a student wants to participate in a sport, they are likely to find it offered at Euclid.

PERFECT SEASON

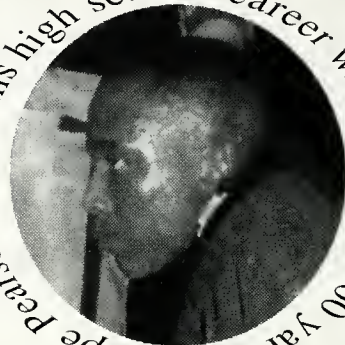

Varsity Panthers finish

1993 season with a perfect 10-0 record and entered playoffs

Tailback

Pepe Pearson finished his high school career with a total of 4,500 yards

The 1993-94 Panthers had a miracle season finishing with a perfect 10-0 for the regular season which had only occurred twice before in Euclid history. The offense started out slow but the defense picked up the slack. With a career high of 6 interceptions, Kevin Bremer had 3 in the first game. Offensively it seemed B.J. Harrison scored most of the touchdowns in the first few games.

Not expecting the defense to win all of the games the offense started to get it together. By the end

1,000 yards for the second year in a row. His favorite target was Steve Zahursky with 16 catches but Gary Dwyer and Kevin Bremer were also popular receivers.

When injuries occurred the team had to make do as well as possible. Brandon Biggom gained 150 yards throughout the season when Pepe was not at 100%.

One of the most exciting games of the season was with Mayfield. Euclid won 29-28, but it went right down to the wire as Gary Dwyer intercepted a Mayfield pass on the 3-yard line as time ran out.

Many of the players received post season awards. Pepe Pearson was Co-Offensive Player of the Year. Pepe Pearson and Charles Smialek were First Team Offense.

With new Head Coach, Mike Durbin stepping in and creating a team oriented environment, the panthers finished the season at 8-7-1 overall and 6-3-1 and second place in the G.C.C. Most of the credit belonged to Coach Durbin for keeping egos and problems to a minimum.

Leading the panthers in goal was Justin Mc Kee. Saving the ball and the Panther's behinds. He finished the season with 5 shutouts and was voted the MVP of the G.C.C.. Josip Brkic let the Panthers in scoring with 10 goals and 6 assists. Josip, Greg Pesek and Rob Heramb, also made first team G.C.C. Greg and Rob led a tough Euclid defense and made the job easier for the goal keeper.

BACKING INTO

Bedford's loss to Brush in last

The Euclid Panthers boy's varsity basketball team had another successful season. The team ended up with a 12-8 record, 10-2 in the G.C.C. which gave them a tie for first place in the G.C.C. The leading scorers for the team were senior co-captains Sam Seawright, Bill Vuyancih and also sophomore Clayton Cunningham. Seniors Tim Banach and Steve Zahursky rounded out the starting line-up

It was a record breaking season for Euclid's long time basketball Coach Doc Daugherty, who won his 500th career game against the Bedford Bearcats on December 28. That was probably the best game of the year for the Panthers, as they beat their talented G.C.C. rivals who ended up winning the G.C.C. The team played very well during the season considering this was the toughest schedule the Panthers had to face in seven years. They played very competitively against some of the best teams in the state including Stow, Cleveland Heights, St. Ignatius and Canton Mc Kinley.

The Euclid Panthers Junior Varsity basketball team also enjoyed a very fine season. The team won the G.C.C. championship with a 10-2 record and an overall record of 15-5. Coach Dennis Turkall enjoyed the tough competition and thought his team handled it very well. They beat Stow and St. Ignatius who were proven powerhouses.

The freshmen basketball team also won the G.C.C. with a record of 12-2. They carried that momentum into the freshman tournament at South High School and won three straight games to take the title. Coach Steve Marcu was impressed with the teams performance this year.

ON THE REBOUND

The Euclid girl's basketball team again had a rough season. Although they improved upon last year's 4-14 record, the 7-13 record was not what the players had hoped for at the beginning of the season. Even though the team had some good players, it did not have enough talent and good shooters to score the points necessary to win games. Rebounding was often a problem so the panthers were not able to get off a second shot. The girls did have some good games and some of the players were able to score a lot of points. The team lost some very good seniors but the J. V. team finished with a 14-6 record so there should be some good players coming up to the varsity in the future. The teams were coached by Roy Pignatiello and Sue Drienka.

Tennis team not able to get their point across

The 1993 Varsity Girls' Tennis Team slammed into action this year and tied for second place in the G.C.C. by playing their best tennis ever. Seniors leading the team were: singles player Helena Oroz (4-year letter) and Erin Smith (Most Valuable Player), and doubles partners Lisa Steele and Tracy Boyarsky (Most Improved Players). Returning underclassmen were juniors Wendy Lapuh serving it up at single and the dynamic duo of Janeen Miklowski and Leah Walczak. Coming up from J.V. for a little varsity action was the doubles team of Mariana Oroz and Angela Meros. Miklowski and Walczak led the team with a personal record of 7-3. While their record didn't show it, the girls put into play Coach Pete Swope's motto of the 3 C's: control, command and confidence. Plagued with illnesses, the girls played for every point often losing by only one game or in three sets. With Lapuh, Oroz, Miklowski and Walczak returning, next year's team should be strong contenders, while Mrs. Cheryl Schossler's J.V.'s will battle for opening spots.

Under first year head coach Mr. Bob Ramlow, the Panther golf team improved from their dismal 2-12 record in 1992, to a promising 5-7. Leading the way for Euclid was freshman Chris White, who had the lowest average during the season. Other consistent starters on the team included seniors Brian Vargo and Brian Tomazic, junior Aaron Boyce and sophomores Joe Bojc and Mike Mukavetz. Also contributing during the season were seniors Matt Lemieux, Tony Sustarsic and Mike Walczak and freshmen Adam Ayer, Kevin Evans and Tim Fogarty. The men's swim team, led by co-captains Tony Hren and Kyle Bush, jumped from the cellar to the ceiling by going from last place in 1993 to G.C.C. Champions in 1994. There was much help from the up and coming freshmen Scott Simmons and Rich Belanich as well as the reliable finishes from upperclassmen Mike Swyt, Jim Belanich, Kyle Bush and Tony Hren. LEADING THE PACK

a miracle season and finished undefeated

The boy's cross country team had a one-in-a-million year. They went undefeated in dual meets and became G.C.C. champs. At the beginning of the season it looked as if they would finish in the middle of the pack. As October approached, however, things changed and the team began finishing in the front. Leading the team was G.C.C. MVP senior Pat Carney and returning letterman junior Ken Schuster. 4-year letterman Phil Baioni and Tim Carney took over the 3rd and 4th spots to help tremendously in all the meets. Surprisingly, two freshmen, Adam Hines and Paul Glowacki also put forth great efforts to help the team go on to become District champs. Ken Schuster qualified for the state meet where he broke the school record by 27 seconds, finishing 30th. Adam Hines was the fastest freshman in the conference finishing 17th. The team was coached by Mr. Tom Halbedel. Things look good for the future since 5 out of the top 8 runners should be back next year.

-Ken Schuster

Senior, Pat Carney and junior, Ken Schuster were the usual first and second place finishers for the boy's team. Ken will bring much experience to next year's team.

LEADING THE

The cheerleaders had a lot to cheer about during the 1993 football season. The team had a great year and spirits were high. In preparation, the squads attended Cheerleading Camp at the University of Akron, where they improved old skills and learned new material for the upcoming season. The cheerleaders spent countless hours painting signs for the school and stadium, decorating the players' houses and locker room, and creating the giant run through signs for the games. Through unpredictable weather conditions, the cheerleaders, led by captains Abby Ayer and Carrie White, cheered the Panthers through an undefeated regular season to the Division I finals in the playoffs. It's a Jungle out there

There are many activities that students at Euclid can participate in if they have the desire. Some groups meet during the school day, others after school and still others meet in the evening. Whatever a student's interests are, there is usually a group that the student can belong to and find companionship.

Cheerleaders, Kim Schoval, Carrie White, Ebony Taylor, Renee Thomas, Abby Ayer, Liesel Sacko, Bekki Sakatch, Rashanda Lockett and Kim Schultz are very much involved in the activities at Euclid.

Samuel Seawright was one of the morning announcers that transmitted the daily information to the homerooms.

ACTIVITIES

Elanie Shippitka was an energetic person who was involved in many different activities at Euclid. She was a Varsity football cheerleader who worked very hard to get the crowd involved in the games.

Heather Perusek and Jennifer Hall were members of the Flag Corps and enjoyed entertaining the spectators during the half-time ceremonies.

Many students enjoyed working on the Survey. Mr. Rick Wherley was the adviser who is shown discussing what will be happening with the Survey to interested students.

THE SOUNDS

The Symphonic Concert Band and The

Following the fury of the marching band season, the band settled in and rehearsed as the Symphonic Concert Band. The band was comprised of more than 70 musicians, and rehearsed every day 4th period. The Band had five major performances throughout the year. The first was a joint concert in January with the Hillcrest Concert Band, at which the most talented Euclid musicians performed with the outstanding group. In March, the Symphonic Concert Band attended the Ohio Music Education Association (OMEA) large ensemble contest and received a state rating. They rounded out the year with a Winter Concert, a Spring Concert and the All-City concert. On a singular basis, many students formed chamber groups or went as individuals to the OMEA Solo and Ensemble Contest. Some also performed in outside groups in addition to the Symphonic Concert Band. The group was directed by Miss

Diane Tizzano.

The Euclid High School Orchestra had one of its greatest and most productive years ever under the direction of Mrs. Lisa Cheshier. The orchestra was challenged with many new styles and a higher level of music. This year the group played its normal schedule of concerts at the school, but went above and beyond by playing with the Euclid Civic Orchestra and giving a Christmas performance at the I-X Center. The orchestra also went to Washington D. C. to play in the Heritage Festival, a great achievement for them. All in all, it was a very successful year for everyone involved.

KEEPING IN

The 1993-94 Euclid Panther Marching Band, under the direction of Miss Diane Tizzano and Mr. Joel Sarich, had a busy and productive year. The band began its year with band camp in August, where the basics were learned and new friends made. The band performed at all varsity football games and pep rallies and provide halftime enjoyment for the audience. In addition, the band performed at the Bay Village Marching Band Festival, the G.C.C. Marching Band Festival, the Woollybear Parade, the AFL-CIO parade, and the Brunswick Marching Band spectacular.

The band's year climaxed with the continuation of the tradition of an out-of-state trip. In April the band traveled to Washington D.C. to perform in the Cherry Blossom Festival Parade. The band participated in many fund-raising activities to help pay for their trip.

The band was directed by Senior Field Commander Adam Van Ho and Junior Field Commander Karen Gezann.

WAVING AND TWIRLING

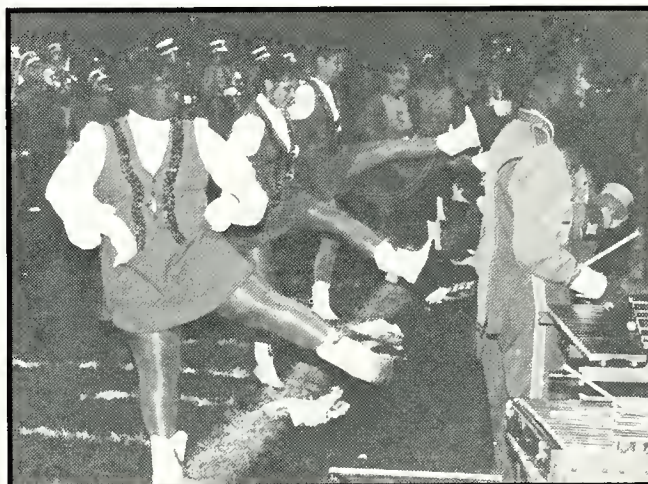

Flag Corps adds motion to the half-time ceremonies

The 1993 Euclid Flag Corps started off with a bang. New uniforms, an almost newly replaced squad and a new director, Ms. Cindy Sustarsic, set a strong foundation for the corps. The corps had three new captains: Elizabeth Walters, captain, Kisha Jones and Amy Barber, co-captains. They had a great season including 12 football games, the Labor Day Parade, the G.C.C. Band Festival at South High School, the Bay Village Band Festival, the Brunswick Band Competition and the spirit lifting pep rallies. The corps practiced everyday for games and parades in the auditorium and outside 4-5 periods, after school Monday - Thursday. They left with the Marching Band to strut their stuff in Washington D. C. from April 7-10. To help pay for their trip, they had many fund-raisers including a citrus sale, a candy sale and giftwrapping at Euclid Square Mall during the holiday season. They are always looking for more people who would like to be members.

They were voted "Most Improved". They performed at all the football games and all the activities that the Flag Corps participated in. In April the majorettes traveled to Washing D. C. with the Marching Band and performed in the Cherry Blossom Festival.

They had several concerts and guest appearances throughout the year, including performances at two of the most prestigious jazz festivals in Ohio, the Lakeland JazzFest and the Tri-C JazzFest. There were many songs that had to be learned for the many performances that the Varsity Chorale made throughout the year. Performances began in December when they got their uniforms. They had several shows in the Euclid area before their traditional Winter Concert at the high school before winter break. During the spring they went on their annual trip with the rest of the band.

RAISING THEIR

Voices of New Life choir has been in existence for two years. Mr. Michael Peterson has been the director for both years and said that this year the "group is more dedicated, and they are a very good choir". They were more active than in their first year. They were in a concert with the Jazz Band before winter vacation and co-sponsored a dance at the beginning of the year and co-sponsored the Fashion Show. They performed at the Mayfield Center and put on a show in February in conjunction with Black History Month. They also performed community work throughout the year.

This year there were not only freshmen, but sophomores and even a few seniors joined the group. Directed by Ms. Diane Tizzano, and accompanied by Ms. Debra Petrie, the girls shared their musical talents. Another musical gift in this choir was Ms. Sharon Whittier, who came in on Tuesdays and gave her gospel knowledge to the girls.

GETTING THE NEWS

The P.A. Announcers read the information

Competition was humorous, especially noting that many students had the opportunity to jeer at their friends as they saw them on the television screen. But the highlight came when the letters of acceptance to a team of broadcasters were given. For about four years, this tradition has been conducted. Instead of the news being given over the P.A., it was conducted live, and always with people one was bound to remember. This year's team of broadcasters included: Amy Hendrickson, Tomeka Gibbs, Joe Bailey, Sally Kohanski, Matt Lemieux, Diana Butkus, Sam Seawright, Amy Von Sick, Tony Hren, Deonna Ivey and Jeff Lapuh. Each person had a specific day that they were on, and all had to arrive at school by 7:30 to prepare. Usually there was time to review, but sometimes there were moments when there were 'last minute' pieces given that could not be rehearsed. In order to get the news to the classroom, however, the Media Aides had to set up the cameras and control what was going on in the studio. As the specific anchormen for the day assembled in the media room, camera-men like Dale Brown, Ben Mooney and Nick Seifried and Adviser, Mr. Allen Black provided moments of entertainment with their wicked senses of humor. They were in charge of the media room, the comedic graphics, the songs and the positioning of the cameras. The highlights of the week were then presented to the audience, live and full of laughs.

HELPING OUT WITH THE SICK

Clinic Aides help the nurses with their jobs

Clinic Aides helped out by running errands and giving a hand when and however they could. When a student was hurt and had to be sent home, the aides got anything that needed to be sent home. Although they couldn't help the injured person they were able to fill ice bags, give out band-aids and take temperatures. They were greatly appreciated by the health aides, Mrs. Donata Schultz and Mrs. Mickey Segulin.

A secretaries work was never done but with the help of students the load was greatly lessened. Everyday, students who gave up their study halls helped the staff with filing, attendance or many other odd jobs. They were always running around in the halls on missions for counselors and principals. Aides also decorated the offices so joyfully during the holidays. Mrs. Hodder's runners even created their own holidays so they could have something to celebrate every week with theme weeks being popular. Some of the themes were: colors week, foods of the world week, Super hero's week, and dance week. The work didn't seem so bad when there was a chance to have fun with the aides.

ALL THE NEWS TH

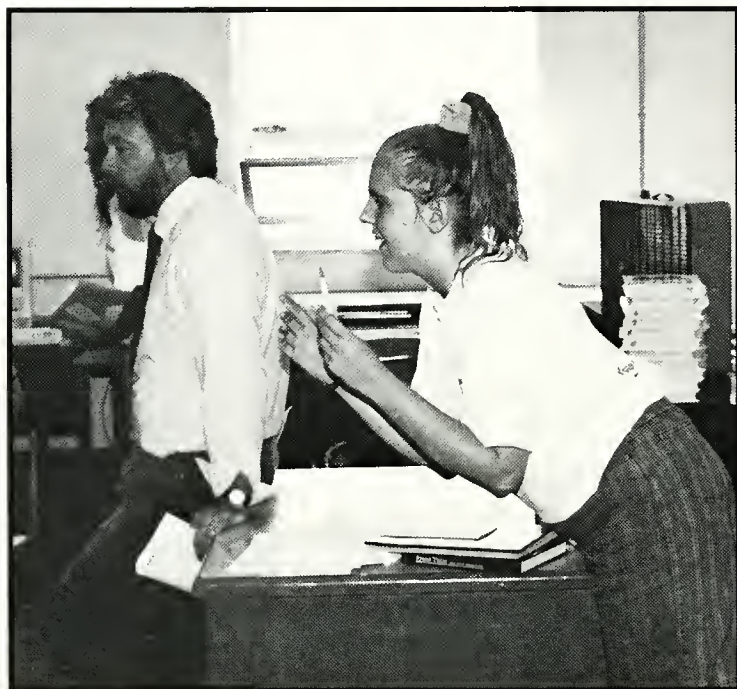

The survey brings the current news to the school

SURVEY, the school's voice, managed to bring to the forefront, issues of concern from school scandals to exposés on smoking, the student paper operated on a higher level than before, with graphics and a smooth running team. The paper was like any publication, in that there was unity and of course the stress. Stress from meeting the deadlines, to trying to persuade people to open their minds and to provide their opinions. This was the ultimate mission of SURVEY. This year, throughout the hassles that the staff stepped upon, there was a greater turnout of people eager to use the power of the pen. Students verbally expressed desires to use their talents, from photography to comics. In SURVEY, as long as one had a desire to commit, provide ideas, and possibly to lead the paper to become the state's best student publication, there was a place for anyone.

WHAT'S FIT TO PRINT

summarizes the entire year

The yearbook was a good way to get a close look at what happened during the school year. In it was found students rushing back and forth to classes, briskly walking on errands and taking trips to the new principal' and counselors' offices. The book was a review of the year's events. It showed a glimpse of the lives of Euclid students as they tamed the jungle-like atmosphere. From finding out first impressions of our beloved jungle, to seniors last impressions, and to the expectations of underclassmen, the yearbook captured on film the 1993-1994 school year. When everything was done it wasn't quite such a jungle out there.

HELPING FELLOW STUDENTS

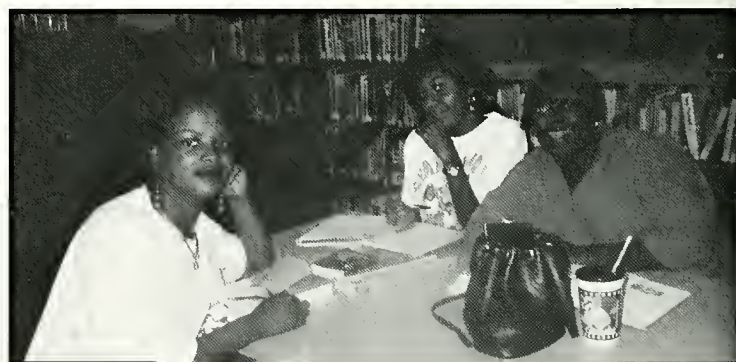

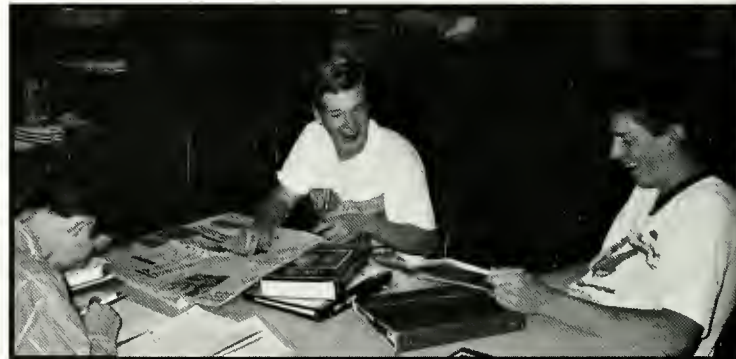

Peer Tutors are students helping other students

Throughout the year, Peer Tutors were often called upon to lend a hand to students who were struggling with their studies. The tutors were a group of student volunteers who devoted lunch periods, study halls, and days after school to help other students in specific subject areas. Both the tutors and tutees benefited from the experience. The tutees received the academic assistance they needed, and the tutors learned the value of helping other students. The Peer Tutor advisor was Miss Barbara Spiga, who matched students with academic needs with tutors who could help them. The library provided the perfect environment for the tutoring sessions. Peer Tutoring was a valuable and rewarding experience for all who were involved.

Membership reached almost 100 members this year, and these members learned the true meaning of "service with a smile." Key Club was an international service organization. Euclid's club performed many important service projects throughout the year. To name just a few, they collected money ($1200!) and food for flood victims in St. Louis, passed out red AIDS Awareness ribbons on December 1, AIDS Awareness Day, and they volunteered at Special Olympics Swimming, Ice Skating, and Bowling. The members of the Euclid Key Club also had fun. They attended dances and Lock-Ins at other schools and conventions in Columbus, New Orleans, North Carolina. Key Clubbers also enjoyed themselves helping others, knowing that they were making a difference.

"Euclid" was a well-known name on the district level of Key Club. The 93-94 Lieutenant Governor of their division was Nick Seifried, and the 94-95 Lieutenant Governor was Chad Shuskey. Euclid's Advisor, Allen Black, was named Administrator for the entire Ohio District.

The Euclid Key Club had a very successful year, and continued to serve its home, school, and community in the future.

THROW AWAY SOCIETY NOT!!

S.A.V.E. wants to show that recycling is necessary

There has always been a struggle to gather students concerned about the environment together. This group existed at Euclid under the name of S.A.V.E. (Students Against Violating the Earth). Under the behest of Kim Bischof, S.A.V.E. was not solely concerned with recycling. The purpose was to help students become more aware of the struggles within our environment, such as pollution, famine, war, oppression of a people (the indigenous people of the rainforest), and of course the ever present problem of the decimation of our land and waters via nuclear and chemical waste, the ruin of the forests that breathe life and house the cures of the world: the rainforests.

S.A.V.E. had many goals and a few experiences, one being that the group had the privilege to attend an ecoconference involving the struggles of a people few ever heard of, the indigenous people. The members desired to plant trees (giving more life), contribute to helping those caught in the war of hunger and many others. Members of S.A.V.E. did not have to be vegetarians, maniacs or have other insane misconceptions. All that was needed was a desire to give back somehow, if not a lot, at least a little to a world that has endured all sorts of mishaps and on-slaughters. It should be held that this world may not be able to take all the pain that was being poured on it.

The purpose of S.A.D.D. was to get the message of "Don't drink and drive" across to the students all year. Secretary, Mark Stillings said, "Hopefully people will realize the importance of our message and become more involved". Every year thousands of innocent people were killed by drunk driving and S.A.D.D. was just trying to prevent as many tragedies as possible. Stacie Johnson was President and Deanna Hoppert was Vice-President and Mrs. Joan Paskert was the adviser.

Kids on the Block was a group of students that used the Japanese puppeteering format called Bunraku where the puppets as well as the puppeteers were visible. The puppeteers practiced their skits and performed at the various elementary schools. The skits dealt with a variety of subjects ranging from name calling to divorce and drug use. Supervisor Kathy Hoinski and the puppeteers worked very hard to help the children realize and deal with the problems they faced every day.

ACADEMIC CHALLENGE & SCIENCE OLYMPIAD

Academic Challenge team wins and Science Olympic team has fun

A winning tradition was kept alive on November 14, 1993 when, once again, Euclid became the academic 'cream of the crop' by defeating Kenston and Aurora schools in channel five's Academic Challenge program. The winning team was comprised of Captain Mike Walczak, Nate Marron, Marty Witzzak, and alternates Marc Stauffer, Adam Van Ho and Beth Geddes. The show was aired on January 29, 1994. The team also competed in the "Whiz Quiz" radio show on February 12, 1994. The team was advised by the wise Mr. Adam Pawlowski.

-Marty Witzzak

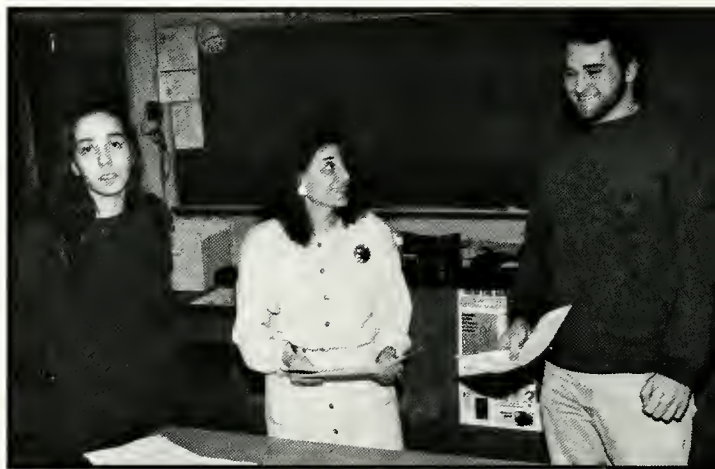

Academic Challenge Team: Adam Van Ho, Marty Witzzak, Marc Stauffer, Mike Walczak, Beth Geddes, Nate Marron and adviser, Mr. Adam Pawlowski.

The Science Olympiad was held at Case Western Reserve University in February. In it, students from Euclid competed with students from other schools in many different types of science related events. In some cases they had to build something, like a bridge, that they brought and tested. In other events they had to estimate sizes or do science in a laboratory. It was a learning experience for all who participated. Mrs Christine Torrelli and Mr. Rick Wherley were the advisers for the group.

In the Science Olympiad there are many events that the students can enter. Katarina Sharpe is seen picking out some of the events that she would like to enter.

Close-Up was a program that allowed students to travel to Washington D.C. from February 27 through March 5. During that time the students got a first-hand experience observing the functions of the government and had a fun-packed vacation in a hotel! Along with daily visits to various government buildings such as Congress, The Supreme Court and Federal Agencies, the students had the opportunity to witness actual hearings and participate in workshops with several government officials and other students from all over the country. They toured and shopped throughout downtown Washington D.C. and participated in different activities throughout the week. In order to earn money for the trip many members sold candy throughout the year. Mr. Wayne Smith was the adviser for the group and most members thought the trip was worth repeating.

-Marina P. Corleto

During their first meetings, Adviser, Mr. Wayne Smith, passed out information about the trip to everyone who was interested. The students listened to what was expected of them and what they could expect from the trip and read over all the information that they received.

This past year, NHS tried to become much more involved in community service, both inside and outside the school. It continued to hold ice cream socials for those who achieved Honor Roll status, and also assisted parents at Parent-Teacher Conferences. NHS was designed to recognize the school's first, and this year's group was no exception.

Charlie Smialek was elected president, while Tomeka Gibbs and Kim Bischof held the offices of vice president and secretary, respectively. The new adviser for NHS this year was first year teacher Ms. Barbara Breeden.

STUDENT

student Council members
are the people who get things done

Politics. Arguments. Friendship. Service. Ideas. Fiery spirits and apathetic smiles. You got all that and more out of Student Council. From Homecoming to Prom, the Euclid High School Student Council was there.

The Executive Board, the top eighteen of Student Council, started out the year by meeting in August before school started to organize, elect officers, and discuss upcoming events. Officers elected were: Helena Oroz, President; Margana Dane, V. P. ; Debbie Podmore, Treasurer; and Stacie Johnson, Secretary.

Homecoming weekend kicked off with an assembly featuring Court candidates escorted by members of the Fall sports teams. Those present at the first of two assemblies were treated to a presentation by last minute walk-on candidates; Kevin Granito and Dan Burke. Throughout the week, candidates were seen on the morning announcements. Winners of the Court were announced at the game on Friday, and the week culminated in the Homecoming Dance, "Classical Enchantment", on October 16. Just two weeks later, Student Council hosted a Halloween party for the Euclid community in the E-room. The party featured games, prizes, snacks, and the likes of Barney, Baby-Bop, Big Bird, and Cookie Monster. Many people spent that Saturday decorating, setting up, running games that evening, and cleaning up afterwards. The end result was that a good time was had by all. November saw the return of the Penny War between the classes. The seniors were the champs, but everyone put in a great effort and over $600 was raised for the hungry and unfortunate of Euclid. December activities included Elf Day, Link War between the sexes to benefit the American Cancer Society, city wide food drive for the Euclid Hunger Task Force, and a lock-in with Spirit Club. The second half of the year saw the Winterfest Dance, "Under the Boardwalk," on February 12; the Senior Citizens 'Prom in May; The Talent Show; and Prom.

Although many things were more work than fun, weekly meetings were often chaotic and nerve-racking, and friendships and school-politics sometimes didn't mix well. It all came together in the end and the events of the school year were a success. Ms. Judy Carmody was the Student Council adviser.

Elves dissatisfied TROUBLE IN THE TOYSHOP in Santa's Workshop

The 1993 Holiday Play was called Trouble In the Toyshop and was written and directed by Ms. Judith Carmody and was performed for the High School on December 10 and 11 and for the elementary schools the following week. All of the toyshop elves were tired of being bossed around by all the supervisors on top, so with the help of Jumpin' and Jivin' Jehosacat, they got the keys from Kringle Krangle and took over the toyshop so they could do things the way they wanted. While Kringle Krangle was away, the elves created and produced toys of their own, only there was something wrong with all of them. After the elves got frustrated with all their mistakes, they realized it wasn't as easy to run the toyshop as they had thought and asked forgiveness of Kringle Krangle, who had brought along Santa Claus to give thanks to all the toyshop elves for all their efforts.

D.E.C.A.(Distributive Education Clubs of America) was the student run club that coincided with Euclid's Marketing Education class. Euclid's program was designed for juniors and seniors who were interested in a career in marketing and management. In their junior year, the students attended classes and studied the stock market, business finance, marketing research and many other business related activities. Seniors spent part of their day in school learning about everything from job interviewing, to advertising and sales. During the remainder of the day they were employed in retail establishments within the Euclid area in a variety of retail, wholesale, or service capacities. In D.E.C.A., students competed against other high school students on the local, state and national level in areas related to their career interest. Mr. Jim Presot was in charge of the organization.

LEARNING ABOUT OTHER CULTURES

Meeting people from other lands is all about what A.F.S. is all about

A.F.S. was always the 'club' to join. But this year it was even hotter than ever. With dynamic siblings, Ernieliza Brown as President and Rafael Brown as Publicity Manager, students learned much while in the process of having fun. There were many signs promoting A.F.S. and during 'World Awareness Week' there was an exotic song contest and a 'guess the country from the flag' contest courtesy of Vice-President, Keisha Jones. Members also participated in fund-raisers such as selling candy. A.F.S. was proud to welcome three foreign students: Veronica Juarez from Mexico City, Mexico, Alejandro Ricardez from Jujuy, Argentina and Eero Lina from Finland. With the help of advisers, Mrs. Barbara Ramlow and Miss Jane Addis A.F.S. promoted awareness and understanding among all who participated.

BE CREATIVE

Eucuyo allows students to be creative

"Eucuyo, What's that?" was a question often heard through the halls at Euclid. Eucuyo was the school's literary magazine. It was a collection of writings, photographs, articles or any creative compositions of Euclid high students selected by the staff. This year Eucuyo broadened its horizons by encouraging all areas of the curriculum to become more creative in either the writing or any other artistic area. It wanted students to sit down and express themselves creatively anytime they felt like it. It was made possible by the supervision of Mrs. Carol Tkac and Mrs. Judy Stobinski. Lindsay Freeman and Tracy Boyarsky were co-editors-in-chief.

DRESS UP DAY

Student Council sponsored Halloween dress-up

Student Council helped celebrate Halloween 1993 at Euclid High School on two days. Friday, October 29 was dress-up day for the high school students, and Saturday, October 30 was Student Council's annual community Halloween party for Euclid's children. On Friday during the lunch periods the costumes were judged and prizes were given in several categories such as the most creative, the scariest and the best group costume. On Saturday Student Council members were at the E-room bright and early decorating and planning the evening's scariest and most enjoyable games and attractions. Some of these features were the haunted maze, the thing, pin the nose on the pumpkin, the pumpkin prance, face painting and of course, Big Bird, Barney, Baby Bop, Cookie Monster and the Pink Gorilla were there.

There was also a costume contest. The games were run by the students who also were dressed up. The party was a definite success with more than three hundred children in attendance with their parents.

LAST MINUTE JITTERS

goes on in a family before the marriage of their daughter

“Father of the Bride” showed the humor and frustration that

For some, it was their first year, for others it was their last. For some, it was both. After seven weeks of rehearsal, Father of the Bride played from Nov. 18 - 20.

In the play, Kay Banks' "lovely little perfect wedding" turned into a supercolossal performance which her father dreaded and her mother dreamt of. After solemnly swearing to keep the wedding small to her husband-to-be, Buckley, the wedding grew out of proportion, no matter how hard Mr. and Mrs. Banks and the children tried.

After all sorts of problems with a dramatic caterer and her hilarious circulation manager, a maid who couldn't stop crying, an emotional secretary, an excited bridesmaid, a nosy best friend, diligent furniture movers, a fussy dressmaker, and an irate flower man, the Banks family pulled it all together.

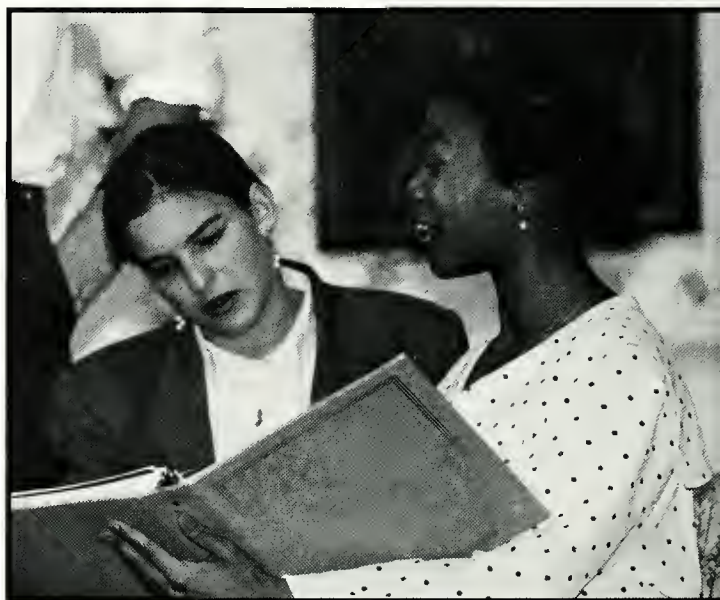

During practice, the cast grew close, and the Banks family became more than an on-stage family. "People worked together on stage like magic...like Abbot and Costello...like Lewis and Clark", added Dan Burke. "Rehearsals weren't something to dread, but something to look forward to", commented play director, Mrs.

Judy Mc Laughlin. "Being in charge of an extracurricular activity lets you see another side of the students, but it also lets them see another side of you". Without Mrs. Mc Laughlin, the play wouldn't have been possible. She provided direction, but let the actors and actresses put their own personalities into their roles.

ACADEMICS

Ebony Taylor and Louis Besses are taking advantage of the academic opportunities at Euclid by enrolling in a chemistry course that will help them in their pursuit of higher education.

An important part of any school is its staff. There must be communication between the staff and the students. In order to accomplish the job of learning there must be a smooth working relationship between all the different people on the staff such as teachers, secretaries, custodians and food service employees. Euclid has always had a good relationship between the different groups so that the business of learning can proceed.

helped reduce the number of students that got to class late

Every seven years Euclid schools undergo an evaluation by the North Central Schools. In the 1992-93 evaluation it was found that Euclid did not have a very good attendance rate and that there was an excessive number of tardinesses to school and class. Because of that a new tardy policy was instituted for the 1993-94 school year. The previous four-minute passing time was lengthened to five minutes with the extra minute coming from the classes which were shortened to 44 minutes. With the longer passing time, any student who arrived late to class was given a 45 minute detention which had to be served before or after school within two weeks of the tardiness. Because of the policy there were fewer students late to class.

Unit Principal, Mr. Ben Pasquale, says that "tardiness to school is still a problem. Not much different from previous years. Between class tardiness has gone down...tardiness is a habit, habits can be broken. Most effective if it comes from within...when they see a need for change."

Mrs. Joan Paskert knows the value of coming to class on time every day and enforces the tardy policy in this algebra classe.
Mr. Pete Schwenke is trying to impress the virtues of being on time to Rhiannon Brenner.

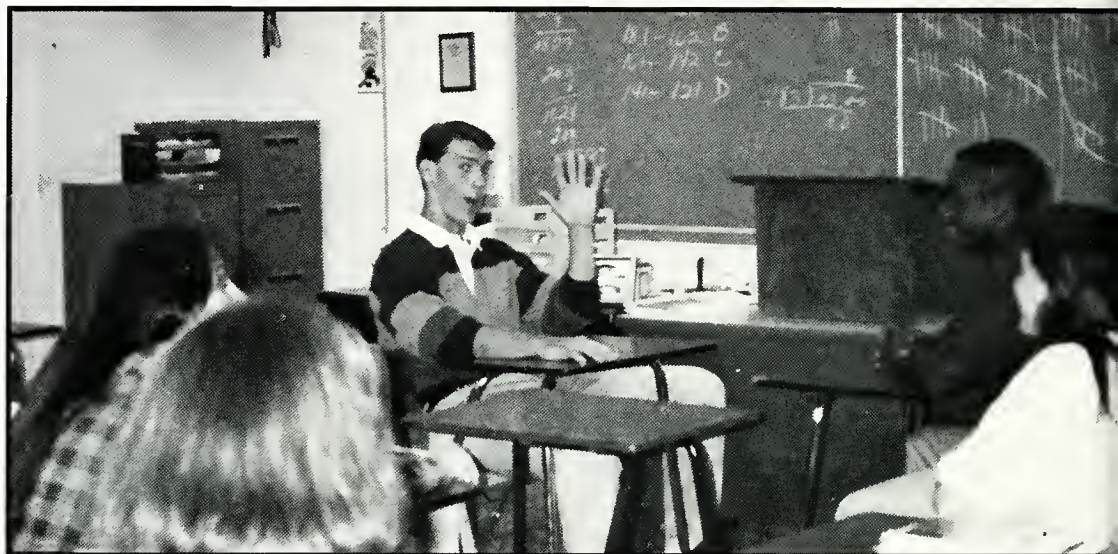

Home Economics teacher, Mrs. Paula Sheridan, had "no previous problems" and she assigns detentions if students "come in after the bell rings."

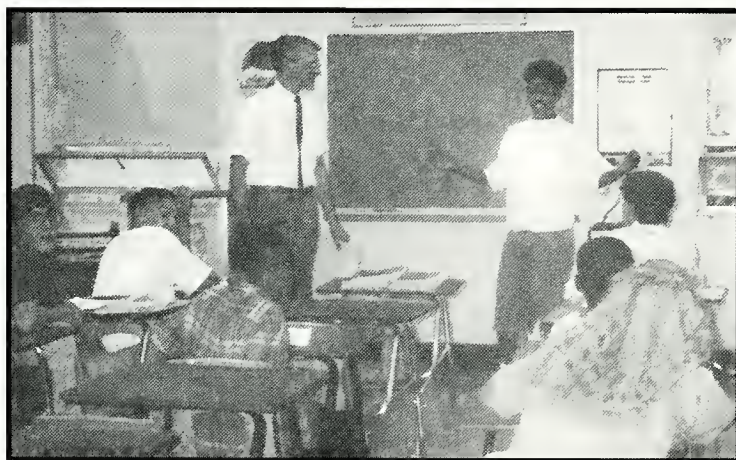

get to school on time

NEW GRADING POLICY

Beginning in the fall of 1993 a new grading policy was established at Euclid. The new plan had two major differences. Advanced placement classes gave 5.0 point A's, Honor classes gave 4.5 point A's and level three to level eight classes gave 4.0 point A's. The other difference was that pluses and minuses were part of the grade. A "B-plus" counted more than a "B" and so on. This was considered more fair so that colleges and employers could determine whether a student had a high or low grade and not just an A, B, C or D.

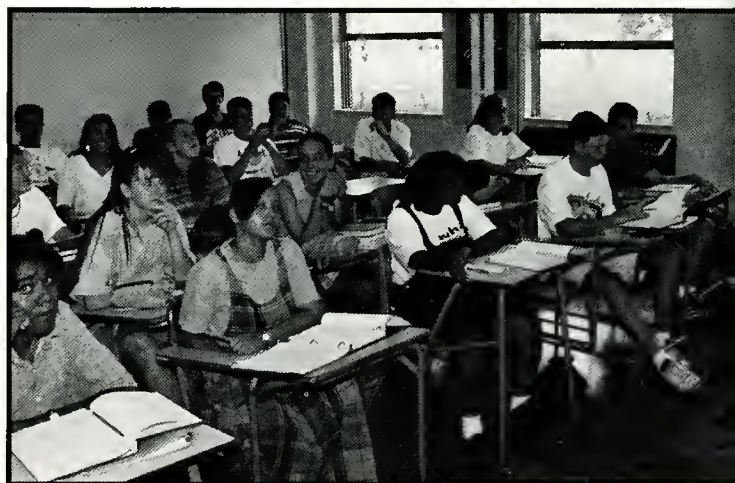

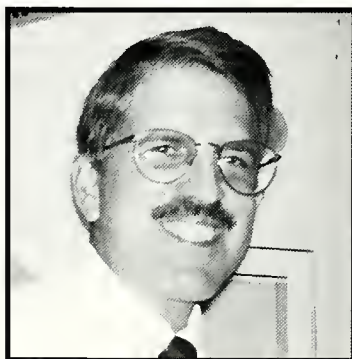

The grading scale shown on the board in Steve Zahursky's class will not be acceptable at the end of the grading period since it does not take into account the pluses and minuses in the grade.

Mr. Robert Petrovic trying to explain some of the intricacies of the new grading scale to his students.

The new grading scale will affect every student at Euclid High School.

Mr. Dan Wensing doesn't appear to be too worried about the new grading policy. We'll just have to get used to it.

THE BE.2 THE OFFICE??

Students greeted by a redistributed office arrangement

When students returned to Euclid in the Fall they found that many of the counselor's offices had been moved to the second floor across from the Library. Then, after Winter vacation, the offices were again moved into the Panther Den and tutors and foreign language teachers moved into the second floor offices. One of the reasons for doing this was to spread the administrative influence throughout the building and not have it concentrated all in one place. This was some students didn't have to go as far to get to an administrator. One definite advantage was that the offices were not as cramped as they were before.

Social Studies teacher, Mr. Steve Arcu, had to get used to going to a different place when he wanted to find an administrator.

Students spend most of their time in class but when they had to see someone in the administrative offices it was a different place from the previous year.

These freshmen in Mr. Jablonski's English class did not know how the offices had been changed from the previous year since this was their first year at Euclid but they still found the school confusing since it was so large and not everything was ready when they arrived in the fall.

Laura Sharp, the attendance secretary, is now located in the Main Office along with Joyce Sadowsky.

Jim Wolf, Jodi Shields and Danielle Picard are working hard in class but if they had to go to the office it would be in a different place than it was the previous year.

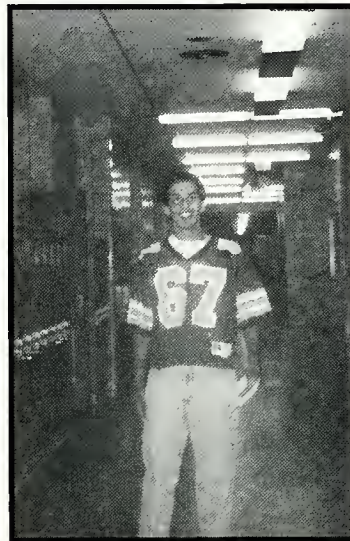

Mrs. Judy Zubizarreta working hard in her office before school.

Euclid acquires a surveillance system at the high school

Vocational Law Enforcement began as a one-year course for seniors at Euclid in 1988. It has now evolved into a two-year course for juniors and seniors and this year obtained a television surveillance system. There are several cameras set up at strategic locations inside and outside the building. The law enforcement students could manipulate the cameras to focus in on anything they may felt was suspicious. The images were recorded on video tape. The camera system was provided by the state vocational program and, therefore, didn't cost Euclid much money. Because Euclid was the only school in the area to offer the program there were students from Mentor, Mayfield, Eastlake North, Willoughby South and Brush attending.

Joe Brkic and Danielle De Boe walking down the hall being little aware that they could be observed by the Law Enforcement class.

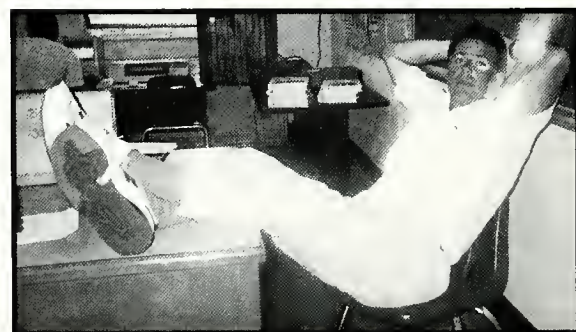

Math teacher, Mr. Gene Brearton, feels that the Law Enforcement program helps Euclid students learn about a career in security.

Math and computer teacher, Mr. Mike Durbin, is shown relaxing in the thoughts that the computers that he uses for teaching are more secure with the better security system.

Euclid has a lot of expensive equipment like these microscopes which must be protected since there are people who would like to take it.

The Career Exploration program began last year and gives students a chance to see what workers actually do on the job. Students select a field that they are interested in and are teamed up with someone with that kind of job for several days. Career Exploration adviser, Ms. Margaret Knauss, talks to Chris Kletecka and Mike Banach about the program.

It's a Jungle out there

Underclassmen range from people who are brand new to the school (freshmen), to people who are very experienced in the ways of the school (juniors). Most of them are hard working people who want to be able to succeed in the world and realize that a high school education is only the beginning if they are to be successful. Underclassmen have to be able to sort out the necessary stimuli from the unnecessary ones to be able to attain their goals.

Danielle Picard, Dana Malaney and Jodi Shields are close friends and always seem to have something to talk about. Talking is one way that uncomfortable situations can be resolved.

Missy Koerber, Kelly Smith and Missy Bonfiglio realize that participating in sports is one way to meet people with similar interests and make friends.

UNDERCLASSES

Dana Finotti and Margie Mihalic know that friendship is very important in surviving in the world.

Gina Zeman wants to be close to her friend, Nikki Christides, while they do their work in the library.

Dannika Witten and Narketa Wooten are trying to get as much material from their class as the can.

Helene Schwartz, Wendy Lapuh and Angela Meros realize that it is important to work hard in their classes so they have a greater chance of going on for higher education.

Freshmen enter Euclid with the hopes of a high school education

Freshmen entering Euclid found themselves in a new and extremely large environment. When asked what their first impression of the school was the majority replied that it was BIG!! It was far larger than the middle schools that they were accustomed to. The fact that it was so hot in August when school began made the transition to the high school uncomfortable for many freshmen. As the year progressed, however, the weather cooled and students became familiar with the sights and sounds of the school and most adjusted to the high school way of life.

Freshmen gathered around the vending machines in the cafeteria during their first day of school to get something to eat.

Ben Banks and La Monte Foster trying to get their schedules sorted out from the jungle of problems that occurred during the first few days of school. Mrs. Jan Kehn is the principal's secretary who is trying to help everyone at once.

Because of the storm of July 28, the light poles around the football field were bent and had to be replaced.

Stacie Richmond and Veronica Radolovic are trying to figure out what they are going to get for lunch their first day at Euclid. It was a hot day and they had shortened classes and they were trying to get through their schedules.

When freshmen enter Euclid High School, their first impression is... "Wow! is it BIG!"

THOSE FIRST DAYS WERE A REAL JUNGLE

The beginning of school was a trying time for many freshmen

Class of '96

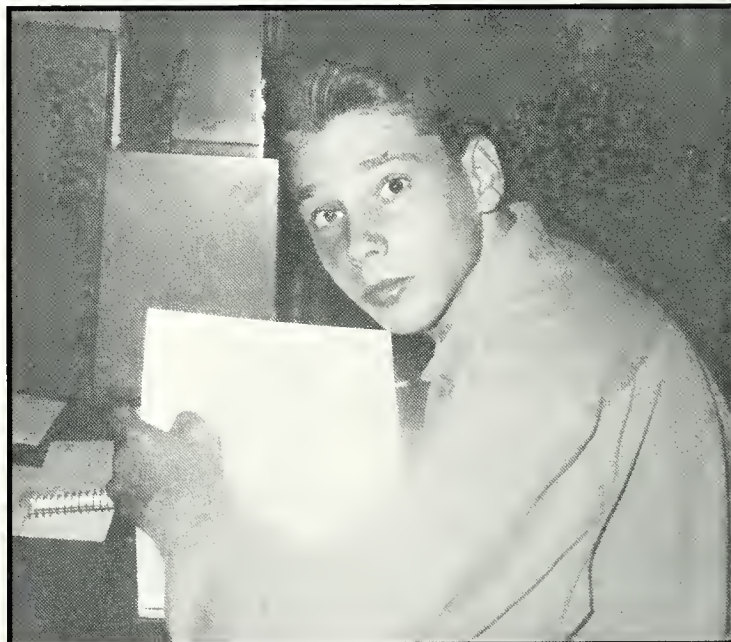

Becoming more comfortable

The sophomore year was an enjoyable one for most students. The building was much more familiar and it was much easier to find your way around. After escaping from the ninth grade most students were able to establish themselves as young adults who wanted to get ahead. Many chose that year to become involved in the many extracurricular activities that were available such as sports and clubs.

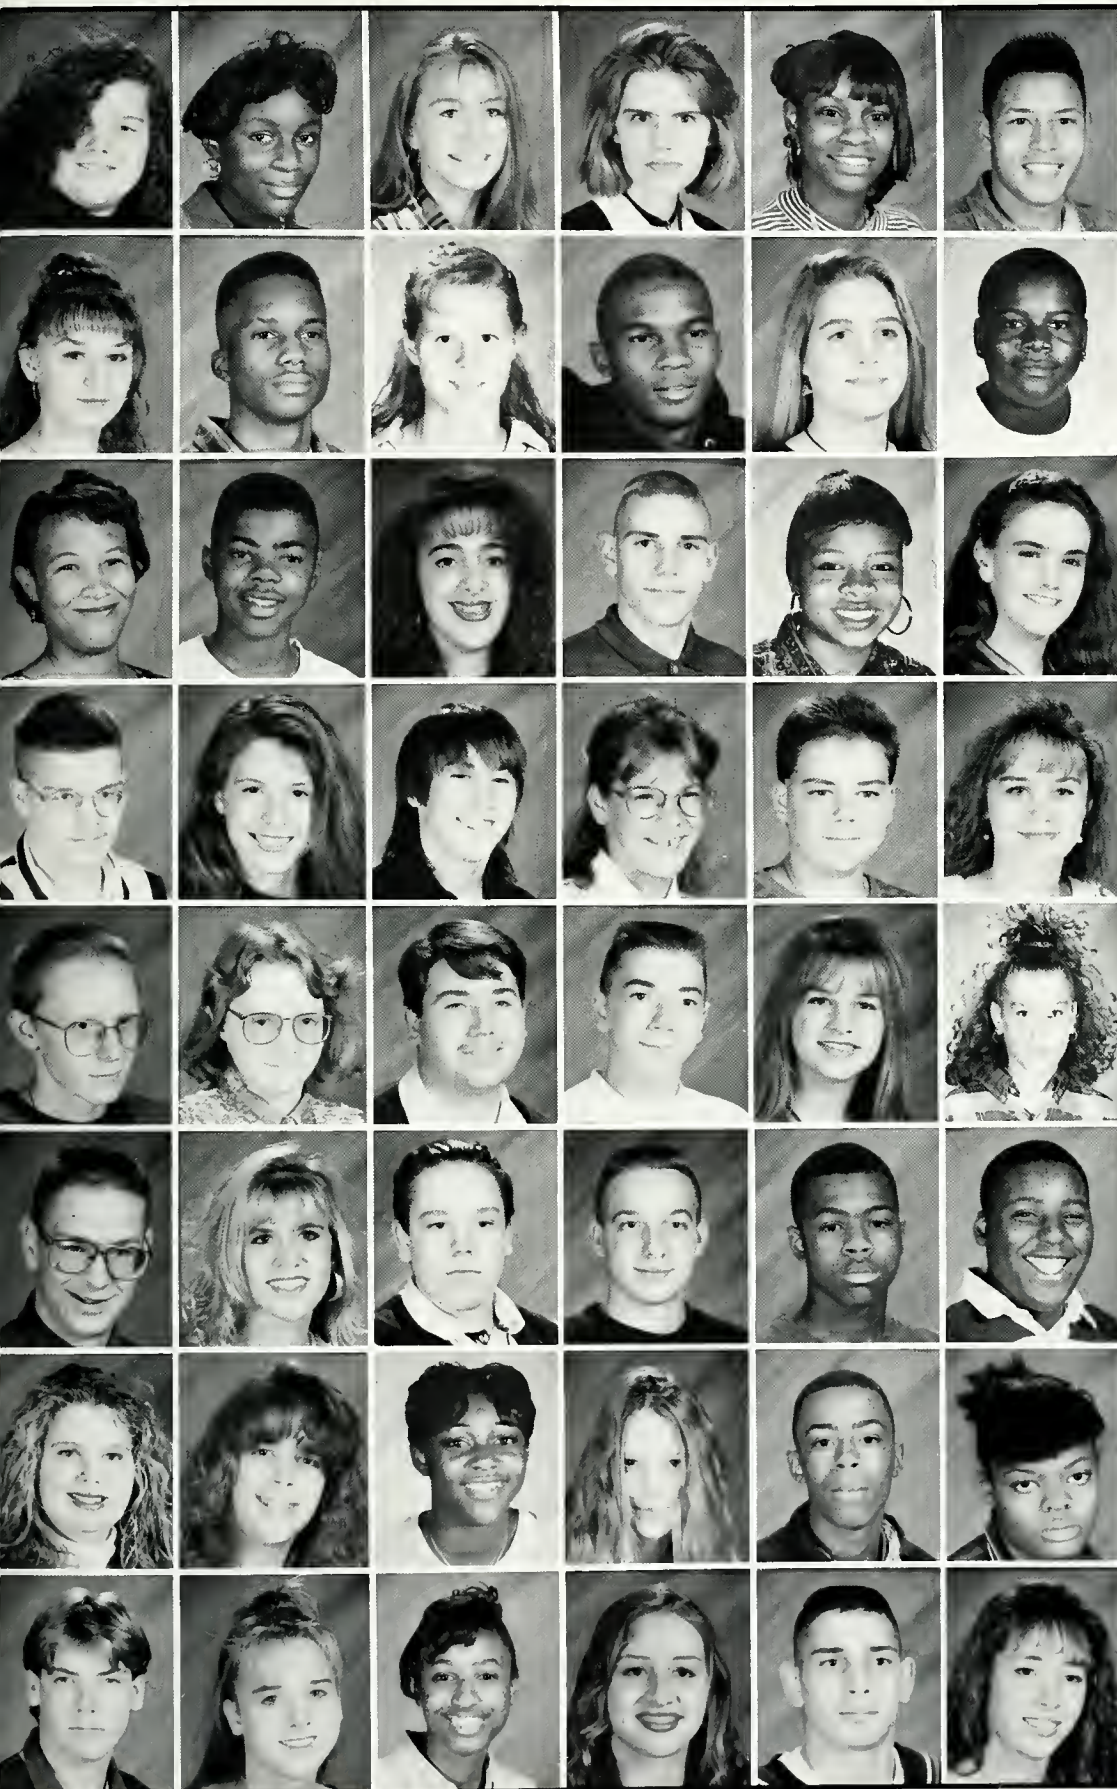

Louis Besses and Lino Sergo are involved in their classwork as well as outside activities. Karen Gezann, Leah Walczak and Jenny Mc Creight enjoy their lunch.

Jaina Blackford, Meghan Orazen, Amanda Edsall and Sara Arnold were enjoying their sophomore year when they dressed up for Halloween.

Larry Dissauer is learning how to manage his time between his studies and everything else he is involved in.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN

Sophomores Speak

Nancy Pekol realizes that by being a sophomore she is able to play on the JV basketball team and be able to move up to varsity later on.

Carmeesha Norman

"My sophomore year differs from my freshman year because its a whole lot easier since a lot more people have matured more in the years I've been here and I think that's a great difference. I've done a whole lot better this year than last year. I need to get more involved in more activities which will probably help my academic successes".

Heather Nickell

"It is more fun. I am acquainted with more people after being here for a year and you get more respect".

Beckie Glavan

"As a sophomore, I developed more school spirit by joining clubs, participating in sports, and attending various school events".

Teen Miklowski, Jennifer Hrovat, Angela Miklavcic, Jennie Mc Creight and Joe Dula know that being a sophomore means that they are more mature than they were a year ago but there is still a lot of growing up to be done before they reach high school.

Kristina Geiger

"Sophomores aren't picked on since they aren't freshmen but they're not considered upperclassmen so people don't really notice you as much as when we were freshmen".

"You get more responsibility and it's easier to do what you want because people know that you can handle it".

Hey, We're juniors!! Class of '95

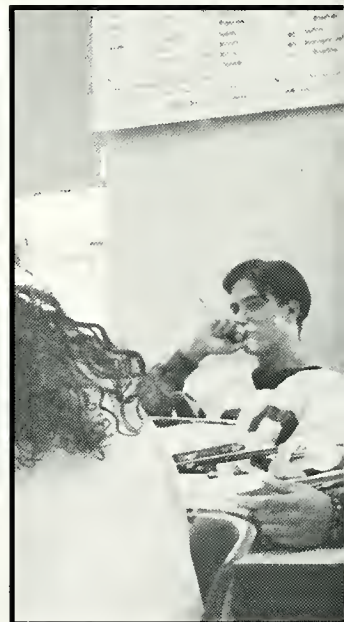

The junior year of high school was one of the most important ones in a person's education. It was a time that students had to seriously think about what they were going to be doing for the future. Education after high school was almost a necessity if a person wanted to get a good job. The days when a person could drop out of school and get a good job in manufacturing were gone. Good jobs required some schooling after high school so many juniors were thinking about colleges and universities. This meant that tests like the PACT, PSAT, SAT and ACT had to be prepared for and taken. The courses that students took had to be compatible with what they were planning to go in to. Junior year also usually meant that the student had their driver's license and many had cars that enabled them to get around without parental help. Many had jobs to help supply them with money so they could participate in many of the things that interested them. It was an exciting and sometimes scary year for students.

Kathy Copic trying to console her daughter, Tiffany Highland, in the Fall Play, Father of the Bride, after her fiancé described a wedding which didn't match Tiffany's expectations.

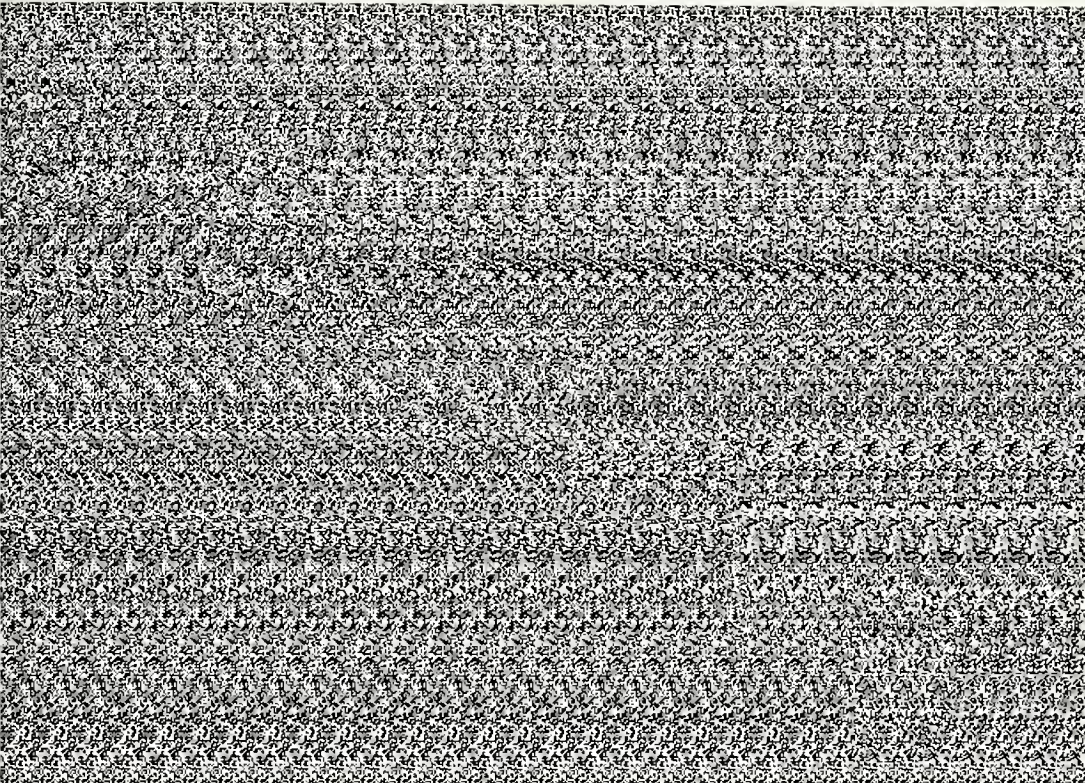

Jazz Band members, Tony Hren, Marc Stauffer, Mike Tomsic, Todd Vici, Kevin Ketchum, Lyle Steelman, Tim Zorman, Heidi Fuhrman and Joe Dula performing for the rest of the school at an assembly held before Winter vacation.

Jamie Willet can't help but notice the thousands of points of light that were reflected from Paula Sustarsic's majorette uniform during a sunny day in class.

"You're going to be a senior next and you can finally see the end of it...all the years and years of public education is going to be over".

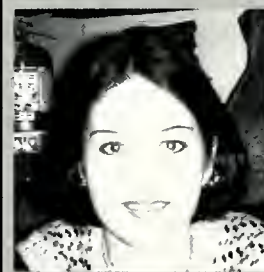

Cindy Ciulla says...

"I like being a junior because I've come so far with my fellow classmates".

Ryan Campbell

Rachel Pierce

"It's scary being a junior because you're faced with the reality of what you'll be doing for the rest of your life".

A CHANCE TO HELP OTHERS

'Elf' Day' helped lower the price of Prom

On Friday, December 17, 1993, Euclid celebrated its traditional "Elf Day". One hundred twenty-eight students participated in this holiday event. Seniors sold tickets to lower the price of their prom bid and also with hopes of winning a free one if they were the person who sold the most tickets. Lunch was a fun part of the day because the Santas made the elves do things like singing on tables, horse-back rides, cartwheels in the isles and feeding their Santas. It was an enjoyable ending of school before Winter Vacation.

If you're 17 you can give blood

On December 3, 1993 Student Council sponsored its semiannual blood drive. Anyone who was at least 17 years old and above the minimum weight of about 105 pounds could give blood. Giving blood didn't hurt and it was a good habit to get into. Since there always was a need for blood by the hospitals around the winter vacation time. If you gave blood you were truly giving the gift of life.

Annette Hollis, Joe Mecelli and John Scarnich are patiently waiting in line to give blood after they have had their vital signs checked by the nurse.

Matt Lucas waiting for the antiseptic to dry so he can begin giving blood.

Matt Lemieux and Mr. Justin Antonini get some refreshments after having given blood. Katie Mc Guinness was one of the Student Council members who helped out by getting refreshments for the donors.

Angela Miklavcic, Andrea Haselbusch and Tilden Humphery were happy to dress up for Elf Day.

Rafael Brown was one of the Student Council members who helped out with the Blood Drive. He would escort the donors to the refreshment table after they had donated.

n November 18, 1993 The Interfaith Suburban Action Coalition held an assembly in the Auditorium for all upperclassmen to explain their plans for a youth center for Euclid. The project involved students from both Euclid and Villa Angela-St. Joe's who would act as liaisons between the schools and the communities. Euclid students involved were Rafael Brown, Heather Nickell, Maryann Oroz, Melanie Shippitka, Fritz Streiff and Doug Zeman. The idea was to provide a place where youth could go to have activities such as music, a workout room, open gyms, movies, dances, video games, and study areas. The meeting was attended by State representative C. J. Prentice, Euclid mayor David Lynch, Superintendent of Schools Kurt Stanic, Recreation Director John Clapacs and several city councilmen and school board members. Roberta Fuller was in charge of the program and explained many of the details of the plan.

Members of the panel being introduced by Mr. Ben Pasquale. Fritz Streiff, Maryann Oroz, Doug Zeman, Melanie Shippitka, Roberta Fuller and C. J. Prentice got a chance to talk to the student body and explain what was being attempted as far as the Interfaith Suburban Action Coalition was concerned.

Brian Udovich, Kevin Gady and Greg Pesek and Carissa Scott, Brad Snell, Nicole Christopher, Kristin Kish Irma Peredne Jason Ganser and Sarah Whittaker are only some of the students that would benefit from a youth center in the Euclid area.

It's a Jungle out there

Senior year was both an exciting and an anxious time for a student. It was exciting since seniors are the top class in the school, the people that everyone looked up to, the people who were soon to be graduated. But it was also a time when many important decisions had to be made. What classes should be taken? What was going on after graduation? Were they going to college? Which colleges should be applied to? How could they afford to do what they want to do? Do they have to get a job right away? How would they react to all the stimuli that they were presented with? Senior year was a fun time but it was also filled with questions that made it difficult for those who thought ahead.

Varsity football cheerleaders, Abby Ayer and Carrie White, are happy that they are seniors and ready to think about all the challenges that they will have to meet in the years ahead.

ajorette, Mary Kunes, not only is le to keep time with the music, t is also a member of the Girl's oss country and track teams. She ows that being active in high hool is very important when it mes time to go to college.

Class of '94

Being a senior was an important time of life for everyone in the academic environment. Seniors were at the top of the academic ladder. It was their last year. They were people who were looked up to. They were the people in the school who got things done. For most of them it was a great place to be.

Pepe Pearson, Tiffany Highland, Ricole Clark, Altonio McCants, Erin Smith, Nichole Witten and Kristen Mihalic are all seniors enjoying Mrs. Paskert's class.

Sparky Birkett and Tomeka Gibbs know that studying is important during their senior year if they are going to be able to further their education.

Jon Buchner is a good student who is participates in many activities and has the convenience of going home to a house.

Most of these students have a house that they can go to after a day at school.

Erin Harsch, Tiffany Highland and Tomika Gibbs get much of their studying done in the library but know that it is nice to be able to go home to get more of their studying done if they need to.

Euclid was a city with several high-rise apartment buildings, but most of the seniors (86%) live in a house and not an apartment. They agreed that it was much nicer to go home to a house rather than to an apartment.

YOU NEED A DIPLOMA

Most seniors agree you can't get a good job without graduating from high school

Do you feel a person without a high school diploma can get a very good job?

☐ Yes 6.2%
☒ No 80.2%
☐ Maybe 13.5%

Seniors were asked whether or not they believed that they could get a good without having a high school diploma. Only six per cent of the respondents thought they could. 80 % said that they could not while 13 % thought that maybe they could. These results were encouraging since national statistics showed that without a high school diploma a person's chances of getting a good job were very small.

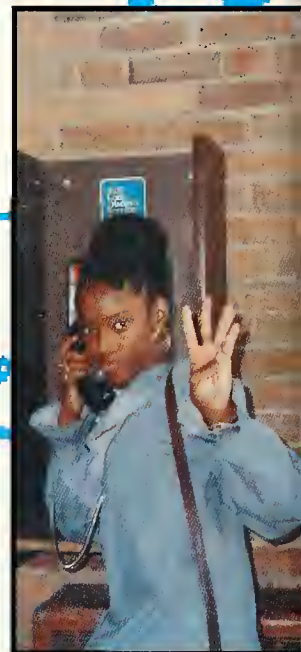

Renee Thomas, Joe Perry and Kim Schultz enjoy being seniors and are looking forward to a good life after they graduate from Euclid.

Chris Przybysz seems to be thinking about what he will be doing when he gets out of high school.

Naja Tucker is showing that she is in her fourth year of high school and she is calling around about getting a job.

Most of the seniors who responded said they come to school almost every day

Do you usually come to school every day?

☐ Yes 85.6%
☒ No 10.0%
☐ Maybe 4.4%

In a poll seniors were asked whether they usually come to school every day. More than 85 % responded that they did while 10 % said that they did not. This showed that the great majority of seniors realize that being in school was a worthwhile endeavor and that they were getting something out of it. This data was representative of attendance at Euclid where the average daily attendance is a little over ninety per cent.

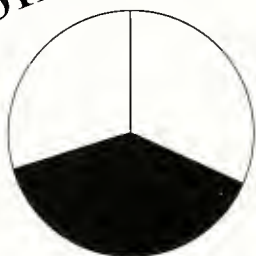

Football player, Isaac Bonner, knows that in order to participate in athletics he must attend practice regularly.

Abby Ayer is a conscientious student who is active as a cheerleader and in other activities and has an excellent attendance record.

Carl Bartlett and Julie Di Bartolomeo both have excellent attendance records and are active in school activities.

PLANNING ON COLLEGE

graduation from high school

A majority of seniors plan to go on to college

Are you planning on going to college after you graduate?

92.5%
3.2%

When the members of the senior class were asked whether they were planning on going to college after they graduated, over 92 % said that they were. Only four per cent said they weren't and three per cent said they were undecided. This was a good indication that the seniors understood the value of getting some sort of education beyond the high school diploma.

Kim Schultz really jumps for joy when she thinks of all the fun she is going to have at college. Some of Euclid's students coming into the gym for a rally before the Barberton football game. Football player, Will Jones, making sure he will get a chance to get into college by filling out his ACT application.

Every effort was made to take pictures of all seniors. The photographers came in at the beginning of September and then came back several weeks later. Despite this effort, some seniors did not get their pictures taken. In some cases pictures from previous years were used but the following people are not pictured. Amy Ausec, Robert Bell, Gary Breen, James Carey, Tim Cline, Jim Dagnan, Nicole Jackson, Jeffrey Kearns, Randy Mc Roberts, Gary Pecek, Christopher Przybysz, Russell Scarvelli, Laura Secrest, Jeff Sherwood, Lavelle Stoves, Maegan Stroud, Tom Szep and Karen Wendrof.

Carrie White drew the outline panther that appeared on the background of the previous color pages. The image at the left is a 3-D stereo noise rendition of that panther after being filled in. To see the 3-D image of the panther you have to look at the image and slightly cross your eyes and focus not on the image but behind it. Do not focus on the image. Look behind it. You have to look at it for a while but the image of the panther should pop out at you.

CAN YOU SEE THE PANTHER?

SENIORS ARE ACTIVE

avails themselves of the many activities that the school provides Activities at Euclid High School were an important part of many senior's lives. For many seniors their school life ended when the last bell rang at 2:30 PM (or even before if they had an early out). But for others, their school day was just beginning as they began their participation in many of the extracurricular activities that were offered. Many participated in athletics while others availed themselves of the many clubs and organizations that were available. Regardless of their interests there was probably something they could participate in if they had the desire.

Leann Uchbar and Kris Mihalic and Mike Walczak and Jason McCreight were all active in athletics and organizations while at Euclid.

When the seniors were polled as to whether or not they enjoyed their years at Euclid High School about 79% of them said that they did. Only about 6% said they did not and about 15% were not sure. This was good verification that Euclid was a good place to go to school.

Ebony Taylor, sucking on a pen, and Samuel Seawright and Valerie Irby, savoring their tasty lunch, were just some of the many seniors who were involved in activities at Euclid.

MOM'S MY FAVORITE

The person most

Seniors were asked who the person they most admire was. Responses ranged from athletes such as Michael Jackson and Brad Dougherty to entertainers such as Madonna and Whitney Houston to animated favorites such as Garfield and Bugs Bunny. The person who got the most votes by far, however, was mom. Coming in with a close second place was dad. This showed that the family was an important part in many Euclid senior's lives.

admired by most Euclid seniors was mom

Doug Torzewski, Matt Lucas, Joe Bailey and B. J. Harrison were part of the Panther defensive line, that gave opponents so much trouble. Joe Bailey was one of the seniors who responded that his mother was the person whom he admired the most.

During the game the Homecoming candidates and their parents were introduced to the spectators. Parents played an important part in the students' successful endeavors.

HOW EMBARRASSING

Euclid seniors had many events they would like to forget

Every year seniors were asked about their most embarrassing moments. Many events happened to students as they passed through their high school years. These are some of the embarrassing moments that the class of '94 had.

Abby Ayer was embarrassed when she had to push a friend's car all the way from South Lake Shore and 222nd street to the Sunoco on 200th street at 10:30 at night with people she knew driving past them.

Phillip Baioni was embarrassed when he was depanced in front of both the girl's and boy's cross country team.

Tim Brokaw was embarrassed when he brought his one-legged dog named Ringer to school in a wheelbarrow and everybody laughed.

Grady Buhaley was embarrassed when the track team stopped at McDonald's after a meet and he stood up and hit his head on a hanging plant and everyone heard the noise so they all turned and laughed.

Dan Burke was embarrassed when he found out that his zipper was down for the whole day. During that day he made an oral report in Mr. Hartman's class.

Pat Carney was embarrassed during his freshman year when someone threw gum in hair and he had to go to Chris Clark's locker where he cut it out with scissors.

John David was embarrassed during his freshman year when he walked into the fake hallway on the second floor.

Tracey DePanici was embarrassed when she gave a speech on gun control and didn't really know what she was talking about.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE TIME...

Euclid seniors had many events they would like to remember

Memories were a very important part of life for most high school seniors. It was a time when people were maturing and went through many changes in their lives. It is meant that there was a lot to remember. Here are some of the memories that the class of '94 had.

Abby Ayer remembered when a tornado hit cheerleading camp in Ashland and if the squad went home before the competition.

Phillip Baioni, Matt Lemieux, Kyle Finch, Sarah-Irene Nehrig, Martin Neill, Sarah Payne, Robert Tepley and Laura Kunchik remembered when Euclid didn't have so much security talking around the halls.

Rakil Bingham remembered when there were 4 minute passing times and a tardy policy and he walked all over the system.

Tom Brokaw, Helena Oroz and Stacie Johnson remembered when students wore their pants around their waists and sat down around their knees.

Shaneliza Brown, Jennifer Grisard, Cory Lederer, Jason Mc Creight and Matt Carney remembered the bomb scare when they had no idea what was going on.

Tom Buchner remembered the regular fights and when lunches were cheaper.

Julie Di Bartolomeo remembered when someone farted in Spanish class, denied the whole thing and was nicknamed "the fapper" for the rest of the year.

Chris Di Biase remembered when Euclid had brown lockers.

Victoria Doles, Bob Godina and Tomeka Gibbs remembered when Euclid wasn't as much of a prison.

Kevin Granito remembered when Joe Markic got locked in the second floor bathroom after they started locking it during lunch periods and missed 4.5 and 5 periods.

Russan Grywalski remembered when Mr. Von Benken set his hand on fire for the class.

Annnette Hollis remembered when Euclid played St. Ignatius and almost won the game.

Jeff Lapuh remembered when there weren't so many wanna-bees at Euclid.

Pat May and Brian Tomazic remembered when Lavelle Stoves threw Chris

Di Biase's bookbag out of the 3rd floor chemistry window.

Tina Michael remembered when seniors didn't have to pass the ninth grade proficiency exams.

Cecilia Miller remembered when Stacey Meden dropped ketchup on the front of her white shorts and had to wear her gym shorts for the rest of the day.

Kelly Moyer remembered when she broke Deanna Hoppert's nose in Mr. Pignatiello's class her freshman year.

Kacie Ray remembered when the style at school was stone washed jeans, Cortez Nikes and two pairs of different colored socks.

Mark Stillings remembered when school was just for fun before he changed and took classes more seriously.

Michelle Suchy remembered when Cara Parise got stuck in the turning gate at the Medina Relays.

Tony Sustarsic remembered when his junior English class was in the History room in the library and he wanted to liven things up so he ran into the Main Library, tripped and flew over a chair.

Only Kyle Russ, Renee Thomas, Erin Smith and Tony laughed.

Steve Tingley remembered when Mike Davis, instead of bringing his Algebra II book to class, brought only the page they were working on and the teacher was rather angry.

Tamika Tuggle remembered when Euclid was more fun, there was more school spirit and lunches cost less.

Amy Von Sick remembered when Euclid was full of spirit and pride, there were lots of dances and pep rallies.

Andrea Williams remembered when someone broke into her locker and stole her suede bookbag and crayons her freshman year.

Julie Di Bartolomeo, Cecilia Miller and Stacey Meden will have many memories of their super 20-2 volleyball season. Sarah Payne, Abby Ayer and Patti Sheck and Tomeka Gibbs had many fond memories at Euclid for most in a person of the opposite sex. Intelligence, a sense of humor, a good personality, a caring attitude and good looks

A poll asked Euclid seniors what they looked

Kacie Ray says she is wants someone with "Soft hands, big feet, sexy lips, pretty eyes, soft brown skin, nice chest, sense of humor and intelligence".

Annette Hollis wants "to look for a guy who isn't afraid to be himself. Someone who is cute too."

Jason Mc Creight said that he is looking for a girl that has a "nice personality and good looks".

Andrea Haselbusch is looking for someone who has "humor, good looks and intelligence." Tracey De Panicis is telling her friend, Lisa Baber, how she wants a boy with "personality, good sense of humor, good controlled temper, caring and outgoing."

Erneiliza Brown could be discussing boys with Kim Clark and Adrienne Chinni. Erneiliza feels that "intellect, open mindedness, knows how to carry himself, good dresser and kindness" is important.

ATTRACT

TRAVELLING AROUND TO OTHER COUNTRIES
five weeks during the summer in the Republic of Croatia

Helena Oroz announced the Homecoming Queen and court at the Homecoming game.

Republic of Croatia

During the summer of 1993, Helena Oroz spent five weeks in the Republic of Croatia. It was a trip that she would never forget.

For her mother, it was a return to the home and neighborhood that she had not seen in twenty-eight years, Stari Mikanovci. For her sister, Vesna and for herself, it was a journey to a land they had never seen but always thought of as home.

Much remained unchanged at her grandmother's house. The chicken coop and storage cabinet that her father built for her almost thirty years ago still stood. There was no television and no telephone. Until her mother arrived, her baka was still pulling water up out of a well and cooking on a wood-burning stove. Now, things were a little easier for her with indoor plumbing and an electric two-burner stove-top appliance to cook on. (But no matter how convenient that appliance was, it was probable unplugged and thrown in a closet the minute they left--baka was pretty set in her ways.)

She missed everybody she met the minute she left. The guys did nothing but joke around, the girls always had funny stories about the guys. They all had the weight of the war on their shoulders; but they laughed and smiled and lived with such a resiliency of spirit that her troubles were put in perspective for her.

It was different. To be told to stay away from the club in Koritnja on a certain evening because it's their saint's feast day and the Chetniks a couple kilometers away might start trouble. To sit on a bus next to a soldier, his machine gun slung over his shoulder. To hear the booming of whatever it was being fired from or on Zadar while swimming in the Adriatic Sea.

She saw the majestic capital city of Zagreb, the beauty of the coast along the Adriatic. She also saw the smaller cities of Vinkovci and Osijek: the buildings sagging, pockmarked from mortar and gun fire; the tiny stores almost empty, their owners wary of bringing in new stock that few could buy, stock to move out when the fighting started anew. She saw the village of Nustar; not much different from Stari Mikanovci, except that many of the homes and the church they saw before the blue berets turned them around were nothing more than heaps of rubble.

The bus stop in Vinkovci was right in front of a mass of debris that used to be a church. She remembered grasping the bars of the fence surrounding it and feeling a wave of sadness wash over her; and then noticing a little scrappy flower stretching its petals out of the rubble, and momentarily feeling better, fleetingly reassured and thinking that meant that things were going to get better and that she would be able to get back there someday soon to make it happen.

-Helena Oroz

Helena and her sister, Vesna, at a water refinery on the island of Pag.

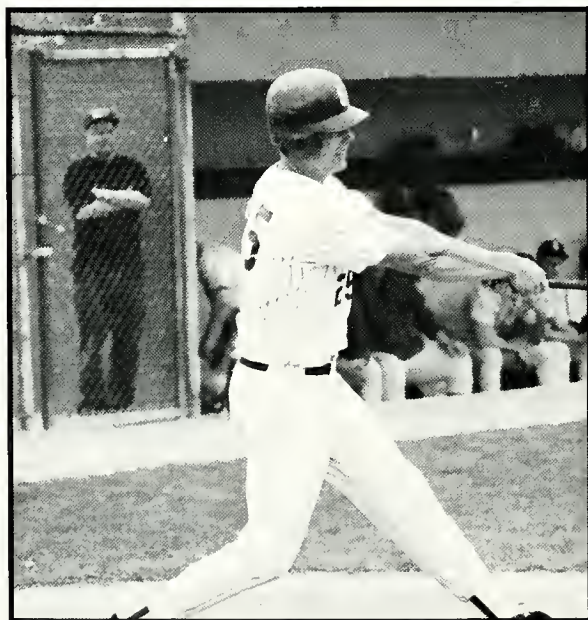

One day while they were on the island of Pag they heard the booming of shells or something else from across the water in the direction of Zadar.

A bridge that suffered during the ravages of the war.

The U.N. forces with their blue berets were everywhere.

It's a Jungle out there

Since the Euclidian is published in the Spring of the year, in order to be included in it an event must occur before the last deadline which is in early March. All the following events occurred after the deadline and are included in the 1994 yearbook.

LAST YEAR

OUTSLAMMED BY OPPONENTS

The 1993 Varsity baseball team did not capture the G.C.C. as in the previous six years. Spring break was spent in Florida where they participated in the Apopka Tournament in Orlando. After losing two games there they returned home and won 15 of their next 17 games. Their last seven games, however, saw 5 losses causing their loss of the G.C.C. Championship.

Lights, camera, action! The 1993 talent show, which was held on March 26 and 27, brought out surprising hidden talents in many of the students at Euclid High School. Some of these hidden talents that were revealed included Albert Helberger's outstanding piano playing of the "Walze Opus", the supreme group For Ladies Only (F.L.O.), the Jazz Band and Varsity Chorale.

There were about 300 people attending the performance on opening night while closing night saw about 200 people in the audience.

Unlike in the past, the 1993 Talent Show included participants ranging from freshmen to seniors. About $2,050 was raised from it to help defray the costs of the Prom.

At the close of the regular school day on Tuesday, May 25, 1993 the annual Senior awards program was held in the Little Theater. At that time Administrators, counselors and representatives from the community presented many awards to Euclid seniors. Some of the awards are certificates or gifts, but most of them are monetary rewards which helped the students in furthering their education.

DRESSED UP FOR PROM

It can't get much more formal than this

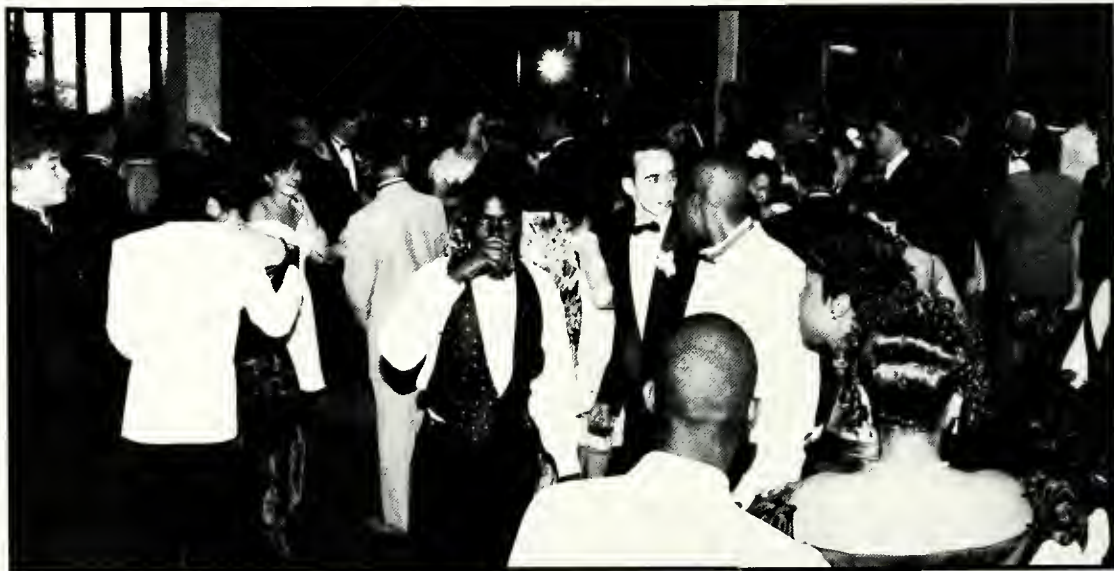

On Wednesday, June 2, 1993 Euclid's Senior Prom was held at Landerhaven Country Club. It was truly an elegant evening for all who participated. Many arrived by limousine and enjoyed having their pictures taken after arrival. After that it was time for a formal meal and then dancing into the night.

NEW BEGINNING

Commencement marks the beginning of the rest of your life

Commencement occurred on Sunday, June 6, 1993 at the Front Row Theater. The class of '93 was the last Euclid class to graduate from the Front Row since it closed in July of 1993. It was a beautiful June day and everyone showed lots of emotion as they sat through the ceremony. It was a time that most everyone would remember for the rest of their lives.

Jerry Echon, Chris Mlac and Frank Tomaro got to the Front Row early to make sure they didn't miss anything. Co-Valedictorians, Mike Cating and Eric Cantini gave speeches during the program.

Varsity Chorale sang several selections at the beginning of the program. Amanda Luke, Kelly Bartel, Carol Dacar, Olympia Christides, Nancy Certic and Melissa Wilson are very anxious to get the program started. My oldest Child,
Your operation gave us quite a scare, it made me think of just how rare you are to me and always have been,
My oldest child.

I may speak to you harsh and stern,
but it's been tempered with loving concern,
my oldest child.

Sixteen years have passed so quick,
here's some advice, and make it stick...
always to your self be true;
consider lasting effects of today's decisions;
and you'll grow and have much to learn, from
YOUR oldest child.

Colophon

Josten's Printing and Publishing Division at State College, Pennsylvania printed the 700 copies of the 1994 Euclidian. The book was printed on Gloss 191 paper stock and included 48 pages of full color. All pages were created using the Aldus PageMaker® 5.0 program running on a Macintosh IIsi computer that had 17 megabytes of RAM, a 230 megabyte hard drive and a Daystar Powercache 50 megahertz accelerator card with math coprocessor installed. The pages were backed-up onto a 88 megabyte Syquest removable hard disk. A 21" black and white, two page monitor made page layouts much easier. A second Macintosh IIsi computer with 5 megabytes of RAM and a Video Spigot card was networked to the first. Both computers were running System 7.0. Digital images were imported either directly from a Sony Mavica MVC-A10 Still Video Camera into the Video Spigot or were scanned in from a photograph using a 600 dpi scanner. The images were processed using Adobe Photoshop® which had Kai's Power Tools® plug-ins installed which enabled the 3-D stereo images to be produced. Graphics were produced using Aldus Freehand® and Type Styler®. The index was made using the Josten's program, Last Name First®. The pages were recorded on 3.5 inch floppy disks and hard copy was printed on a Hewlett Packard LaserJet III printer. The hardcopy and disks were sent to Josten's who stripped in the photos and produced the final copy on a Linotronic printer. The cover was designed by the Josten's Art Department. Pages were submitted to the plant on five deadlines: November 22, December 27, January 17, February

Thank You

The staff of the 1994 Euclidian would like to extend thanks to all who helped to make this book possible. First and foremost, thanks have to go to the adviser, Mr. Von Benken for the many long hours of hard work and planning that had to be put in to get the entire operation going and to keep it going. Others to be thanked are: Lifetouch National School Studios Inc. for supplying film and processing for the many pictures that appeared in the book and for taking many of the team pictures, senior and underclass pictures. Josten's Yearbook Company for putting it all together in such an artistic manner. Jan Kehn for all the time she spent arranging photography dates and supplying needed materials, Barbara Springer for all the time and work she did trying to get the senior pictures arranged and taken, all the writers and photographers who contributed their time, and last but not least, the entire student body at Euclid High School without which this book could not exist.

7 and February 28. The deadlines were moved back from previous years since 8-page multiples of pages were submitted instead of random pages. All the color pages had to be in the first deadline since their production entailed so much work. Since the final deadline was in late February, nothing that occurred after that time could be included in the book.

Members of Euclid's Physics-Calculus gang include Paula Good, Marty Witczak, Tony Hren, Michael Tomsic, Tammi Vicic and Nate Marron. They study hard with Mr. Reno who teaches them the uses for physics and calculus.

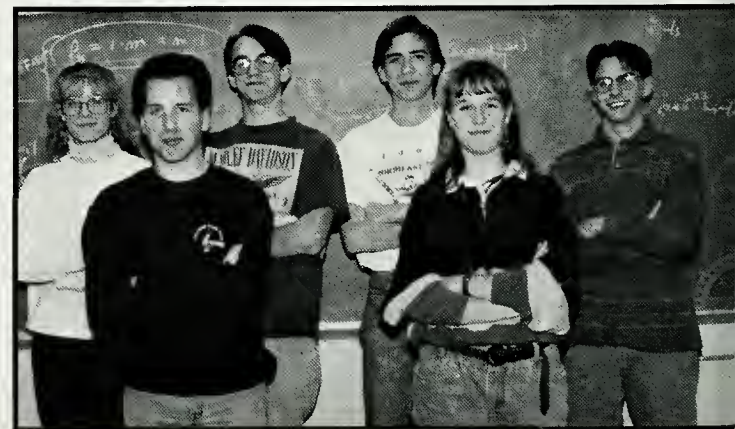

Staff

Many people helped in some way with the 1994 Euclidian. Some wrote stories while others worked on the laying out of the book while others helped in the mailing of letters. Some of the people who helped were: Annette Hollis, Lillian Mazzei, Julie Di Bartolomeo, Helene Schwartz, Kevin Carlson, Tomeka Gibbs, Wendy Lapuh, Jason Mc Creight, Andrea Haselbusch, Mike Walczak, Leann Uchbar, Sarah Payne, Carmeesha Norman, Bridgette Varnju, Laura Fifolt, Jennifer Grisard, Tracy Boyarsky, Melissa Nagode, Angie Gudaitis, Paula Good, Carrie White, Marty Witczak, Janeen Miklowski, Ernieliza Brown, Kathy Copic, Jamie Willett and Mr. Von Benken.

Disclaimer

The 1993-94 school year is history. Many interesting and significant events occurred during that time and the Euclidian tried to cover as many of them as possible. This was difficult due to the limited staff. If we missed something, we are sorry. We sincerely apologize for any errors or omissions that occurred in the book but you have to understand this is only a high school publication and mistakes can happen.

Some of the members of the 1993-94 Euclid Cross-Country team, Paul Glowacki, Grady Buhaley, Tim Carney, Erik Zuno and Phil Baion who won the G.C.C. for the first time since 1984 being honored at a Fall Sports Rally.
